

I'm very concerned about Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election. I strongly feel that this is not in the public interest, and is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

When large companies control the airwaves, programming is geared more towards generating revenue and less for serving the public interest.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not relax them.
Thank you. Marcelle Heimdal